

Rhonda Vincent And The Rage "I've Forgotten You"

Visit "I've Forgotten You" on MotoLyrics.com

Well it's snowing in Miami and it's hailing in L.A.
Money's growing like green apples on the trees
I've been hanging out with Elvis, yeah and all my bills are paid
And they're giving away Cadillacs for free

The whole world gets along
And I haven't thought about you once since you've been gone

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me
I don't miss it like you think I do
I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you

There's a million things about you, I don't remember anymore
Like that time we got that cabin up in Boulder I don't remember how you kissed me up against that old oak door
Ain't it funny how things fade right when it's over

Yeah I'm doing fine
I sleep just like a little baby every night

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me
I don't miss it like you think I do
I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born
to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you

Can't you see how I've moved on No, I haven't thought about you once since you've been gone

I've forgotten you
I've forgotten every single time you kissed me

I don't miss it like you think I do
I've forgotten you
How you held me and it felt like it's what you were born
to do
If I lie enough it might come true, I've forgotten you Visit Rhonda Vincent And The Rage page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.