Gotta do a little bit of reminiscing
On the days that just gone by
They say don't look back
But I take things in stride
Everybody wanna minimize
They want to change what can't be undone
I can see it's a recipe
That always leads to just no fun
Haven't slipped that time to take you back
I got a few regrets of my own
She had a diamond eye
Beauty all her own
Where are you now, girl?
You know you got that special place
I always see you
When love spits in my face
Regrets, I've had mine
Lonely nights and a whole lot of wasted time
If you see her won't you tell her for me
It's better this way to avoid our misery
It's a little bit of luck
But a whole lot of hard work takes a toll
Most people don't know when they walk in Heartache is what's in store
I thought I'd given up
And settled on the blues
But I'd always think of her
When I didn't know what to do
It'll be my burden
To track when it got hot
When she walked on
I didn't know what I'd just lost
Maybe she's out there
And thinking just like me
What if, what would have happened
What could have been
Regrets, I've had mine
Lonely nights and a whole lot of wasted time
If you see her won't you tell her for me
It's better this way to avoid our misery
Regrets, I've had mine
Lonely times and too many wasted nights

If you see her won't you tell her for me
It's better this way to avoid our misery
Regrets, I've had mine
Regrets, I've had mine
Sometimes, when I think back
I wonder where it was that I lost track
And I think of you, ha ha, baby who knew
Who knew
She's out there, she's somewhere
I'm losing my head again
She's always haunting me
I'm going out of my head
Regrets, I've had mine
Lonely nights and a whole lot of wasted time
If you see her won't you tell her for me
It's better this way to avoid our misery
Regrets, I've had mine
Lonely times and too many wasted nights
If you see her won't you tell her for me
It's better this way to avoid our misery
I'm full of regret, I'm full of regret
I'm full of regret, I'm full of regret
