

Richard Marx

"At The Station"

Visit "At The Station" on MotoLyrics.com

It seems that I remember
The raincoat that you wore
It's me who waits the evening train
My heart starts beating faster

Those footsteps sound familiar
So who else could it be
Except the one I used to love
Someone who still loves me

Yes after all this time here we are at the station
Those memories come rushing back they're so bitter
sweet
And the words I need to say
They just can't wait one more day

At last I understand what your heart tried to tell me
That I have been the only one that you really loved
But the moment's gone
I can't go on
The dream is ending

Inside of our compartments
We watch the night race by
Though it was just two years ago
We've changed more than we'll ever know
Pretending we don't know this
We go our separate ways
Back home where someone waits for us
Forever and for always

Yes after all this time here we are at the station
Those memories come rushing back they're so bitter
sweet
And the words I need to say
They just can't wait one more day

At last I understand what your heart tried to tell me
That I have been the only one that you really loved
But the moment's gone
I can't go on
The dream is ending

And somewhere in the rush of the crowd at the station
I see you as you walk away with your loneliness
And the only thing I feel
Is this pain that's too real
It's time for me to leave yesterday at the station
It's funny how the rain has gone like it never came
But it's all the same
Life without you
That's what waits for me (x2)
Waits for me
That's what waits for me

Visit Richard Marx page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.