Mighty maker
You gotta take her
And tell her just how I feel
I am broken-hearted
And since we parted
Only you can reveal

The truth in our love that we stopped short of
And changed the course in midstream
It just can't be over--the devil drove her
Away from me and our dream

It ain't right, no, it's torturing me
And there's been too many nights like this you can see
It ain't right, it just couldn't be
I'll give you my life, set me free

Maybe there's a rainbow somewhere in the sky
Touching down right to the ground telling me why
I'm seeing blues the strangest of hues
Still they're just blues
When I need some love I will look to above and

I will sing my song to whom I belong
And trust in you as I go
It's just an open prayer because I still care
And feel that someone should know.
