I left my baby
I bought a ticket for the train
I waited all day long but the train never came

And I was so glad
I was so glad
The train never came

The reason I was leaving
Was all because of sin
I didn't want to do it but I was sucked in

And I was so sad
I was so bad
I didn't go home

I was out with the boys
Drinking all night
Gambling all my money
Got into a fight

And I cried for my baby
But my baby never came Sirens were a wailing and I stepped off of the train

I picked up my bags
And started down the road
The night was drawing in now and I was getting cold

And I was so glad
I was so glad
she was still home

I'll never go out with the boys
Drinking all night
I'm saving all my money
Never getting in a fight

And I'll stay with my baby
Never leaving her alone
I'm keeping outta trouble
So I'll be staying at home

I'll be so glad
we're both still home

We're both still home

We're both still home

Staying at home
Staying at home

We're both still home
