It's late now

But it doesn't matter

It's a cold night

I can't even feel my hands

We are both still

Keeping quiet

The hours that would pass

Or it could have been days

There are no violins, but you are there

There are no street lights, but your light is there

We are freezing our love

So that it will last longer

Don't worry because

Nothing is impossible

If the fuses of our hearts are united/joined

Of our hearts

Nothing is impossible

We can make ourselves invisible

With my love

If we're both in this together

Nothing to do with it

It's awkward to proceed
My sudden shyness
My (little outbursts of nervous laughter)
Nothing to do with it
A chatterbox yesterday
How different it felt
Just being each other's company (just being friends)
There's no sunset, but you are looking at me
There's no sea breeze and you are not sighing
We are decorating this corner
Putting the city on alert
Don't worry because
Nothing is impossible
If the fuses of our hearts are united/joined
Of our hearts
Nothing is impossible
We can make ourselves invisible
With my love
If we are two
