Once I dreamt
That someplace
I could be someone
If I could learn how to love
And I also dreamt
That if I were to triumph
I would have to overcome
My stubborn pride
I will get there one day
The distance doesn't matter
I will find my way
And I will be worthy
Step by step I'll go
And I will persist
Whatever distance I must go
I will find love
I saw you once
It was all so unreal
And even though it was a dream
I felt you next to me
I know that you are out there

That I will find you
Even if it takes a lifetime
I will never give up
I will get there one day
The distance doesn't matter
I will find my way
And I will be worthy
Step by step I'll go
And I will persist
Whatever distance I must go
I will find love
Beyond all the glory,
Pride and valor
A hero's power
Is found in his heart.
I will get there one day,
The distance doesn't matter
I will be with you
In your splendor
Step by step I'll go
And I will persist
Whatever distance I must go
I will have your life and your love
