Right now, I'm trying my best to see
The bright side of the darkest we can be
Can't tell right from wrong
Kill the weak to make you strong

Don't say fear is what we need
Don't try to challenge what I believe
I'll be the judge of who you say is my enemy
I've had enough, now you won't take it out on me

Faces, so many faces
In far away places
But I feel alone
Changes, you promised me changes
The coming of ages
But I'm still alone

You say it's better to ignore
Some say there's nothing worth fighting for
So we shut our mouths and hide our eyes
If no one sees, then no one cries

Don't say fear is what we need
Don't try to challenge what I believe
I'll be the judge of who you say is my enemy
I've had enough, now you won't take it out on me

Faces, so many faces
In far away places
But I feel alone
Changes, promising changes
The coming of ages
But I'm still alone

We are only stupid people
Voices faded, words unknown
We are only useless people
Uninvited, so alone

Right now, I'm trying my best to see
The bright side of the darkest we can be
The darkest we can be

Faces, so many faces
In far away places
But I feel alone
Changes, you promised me changes
The coming of ages
But I'm still alone

We are only stupid people
Voices faded, words unknown
