"Lost In Oblivion"

When you first found me
I was a grub suffocated in silk;
A bud that couldn't blossom, a poor snail trapped in its shell.
Your innocence and purity were wiser than all my experience
and when I tried your elixir,
I thought to myself,
That was the only way I could subsist

Chorus:

I feel I'm lost in oblivion; the thought of you and me, I fear it could be a simple shard inside your trunk; my aura starts to wilt and now I'm alone, could I fly on my own?

Obliged to be the commander, nothing to justify the absence

Chorus

You saw the worst in me and then you vanished without trace I've been chasing you
I hope next time I'll be wiser

Chorus

I CAN FLY ON MY OWN
