"The Switch"

Another quarter mile, we can't stop running
Must be on time
Holding the lost files
A drop off's coming
Too soon for us
This is the switch
One day, one far from where we are in now
We'll look back and laugh
If we make the checkpoint
All our worries will be gone for some time
A stolen suitcase full of your secrets
Soon will unwind
This is the switch
Play innocent, were innocent
I'll wash my hands one day
One far from where we are in now
We'll look back and laugh
We'll move to a foreign town
In Argentina, if you're down
No one will recognize us
Spending with our new disguises on
If only the switch would come
