I can't believe this time
The reasons you tell me, the songs that you sing
I'm here to tell you the words you should say

I can't believe this time
You always forget all the things that you hear
This way you can't change anything but today

Man, you come and walk alone
And you pretend you're having fun
If you own nothing work for some Open your eyes before it's gone

I can't believe this time
You think you can't have anything but a dream
Just try not to think everybody is OK

I can't believe this time
You shout at them, spit at them, and break up their feelings
You know you can't treat anyone in this way

Man you come and walk alone
And you pretend you're having fun
If you own nothing ask for some Open your eyes before they kick your ass
And give you less than you've always dreamed, yeah

Today, today
You should make it real today
