I've been here before but never made a choice
Instead I made the most of a bad situation
But who's to say I won't walk right out that door
And leave the only love that I've ever known

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

Never was a time so perfect in my eyes
That makes it easy to believe that we'll never change
'Cause what does she feel if she doesn't feel love for me?

Is this a game, and am I just a playing piece?
If anything, just let me think
'Cause she loves her man, that's what she says

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?

Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?

She says that she loves me
But not the way she acts towards me
But if I leave her will she stop me?
Or will she let me go?
