

Rob Thomas

"Dear John"

Visit "Dear John" on MotoLyrics.com

Dear Joan
I've almost forgotten
The pane in the window
The blue dress in the doorway

Dear Joan
Help me remember the face i forget and the traps that I've sprung

I guess I've grown tired It's just what's expected of me to tear your heart from the inside to the outside You know I was wired I just couldn't help it the hundred thousand times i hurt you

Dear Joan
I wanted to say
I'm sorry for the screaming last night
and the nights before Well i've wanted more from this then anything i've even known Dear Joan

Dear Joan
You're face has a brightness that've never seen and the years that i've known you
Dear Joan
I'd pick up the peices but some scattered too far You see they flew when I kicked them cross the floor

And i know you believe when you said it was over You stood by me patiently waiting and broken so deeply in love with every face that i've shown and Dear Joan I wanted to say I'm sorry for the scream last night
and the nights before Well I've wanted more from this then anything ive ever known

Once I forget, twice I'm a fool Three times I wrap my hands around your neck while you're sleepin

Dear Joan
Don't walk out the doorway because if you did, I could honestly kill you

Dear Joan
I wanted to say
I'm sorry for the screaming last night
and the nights before
Well i've wanted more from this
Then anything I've ever known

Dear Joan
I wanted to say
I'm sorry for the screaming last night
and the nights before
Well I've wanted more from this
Then anything I've ever known
Dear Joan

Visit Rob Thomas page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.