She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's terrified and
She's unafraid

She'll change her mind
With the change of the seasons
She's every reason
You'll ever need

She'll never say what you should
Already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind

Sometimes she'll seem as if
She's broken down
Yeah, but everything that's perfect
Took a little workin' out, yeah

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She'll break your heart
And she'll make you strong

And she can take you
Completely make you
So uncertain but
So better off

She'll never say what you should
Already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind

At times she'll seem as if
She's broken down
Yeah, but everything was workin'
Why'd you have to let her down again, again

She's just a woman
Not just a woman

She's terrified
And she's unafraid

She is an icon
She keeps her brights on
She'll break your heart, yeah
But she's got her ways

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's complicated
With an easy smile

She is a genius
But she don't see it
She is a dream
In your waking hour

She'll never say what you should
Already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind

At times she'll seem as if
She's broken down
Gets a little worn, little worn down

Little worn down, yeah
Little worn down
A little worn down
