Strange things are happening everyday
I hear the music up above my head
Though the side of my heart has left me again
I hear music up above

Secrets are written in the sky Looks like I've lost the love I've never found
Though the sound of hope has left me again
I hear music up above

Standing in my broken hope all night long
Darkness held me like a friend when love wore off
Looking for the land that's hidden in the cross
The finder's lost

I know I've loved you too much
I'll go alone to get through

I hear Rosetta singing in the night Echoes of light that shine like stars after they're gone
And tonight she's my guide as I go on alone
With the music up above
