I just held the hand on you forgive me
You look so disappointed as someone turned the back on you you seem so lonely after all, you created this dream
But can't land it out, now, land it out

I know about a place where you can rest your chest
It's funny there with the fire and a gun
You can play (with) it well they build it for you to be forgotten
No one ever stap you in the back once you get there

You can dance drop your pants on the floor
You can eat candies, there will always be more
No one cares for you at the end of the day

You can eat dinner with your mom as a guest
You can jump up pulling in your chest
No one cares for you at the end of the day

put your money in this pocket you'll don't need it once you hit the train everyone around you look the same feel the same don't think of them

Well, try out a question and a thing
Everything as it should be
Just as me
And I agree

You can eat dinner with your mom as a guest
You can jump up pulling in your chest
No one cares for you at the end of the day

You can eat dinner with your mom as a guest
You can jump up pulling in your chest
No one cares for you at the end of the day

Now ow owoooooo...

Na na na...

You can dance drop your pants on the floor
You can eat candies, there will always be more
No one cares for you at the end of the day

You can eat dinner with your mom as a guest
You can jump up pulling in your chest
No one cares for you at the end of the day

Na na nowww â€¦!
No one cares for you (x8)
