Light your eyes so I can see through
All the dark that this life brings
When this world starts spinning backwards
Will you let me run to you?

The fear of the fall is so worthless after all
Now back on the groundâ€¦
Back on the groundâ€¦

After all I've seen
Cross the land and sea
You're the only thing I found here
That shines through all the dark
Look for once I see
This world won't mean a thing
But I grow old and I'll find
Reasons why you seem to shine

If tomorrow brings a new storm,
For you I'll fight while others run
Love, I wasn't born to be brave
But now with you, I face any day

The fear of the fall is so worthless after all
Now back on the groundâ€¦
Back on the groundâ€¦

After all I've seen
Cross the land and see
You're the only thing I found here
That shines through all the dark
Look for once I see
This world won't mean a thing
But I grow old and I'll find
Reasons why you seem to shine

Spend the life thinking I
Never find a way
Find a way back

I don't care

It's worthless now
As long as you're alive

The fear of the fall is so Worthless after all
I've seen

Cross the land and sea
You're the only thing I found here
That shines through all the dark
Look for once I see
This world won't mean a thing
But I grow old and I'll find
Reasons why you seem to shine

After all I've seen
Cross the land and sea
You're the only thing I'll found here
That shines through all the dark
Look for once I see
This world won't mean a thing
But I grow old and I'll find
Reasons why you seem to shine
