This is the last time I can say goodbye
The days are running shorter by the hour
We'll look back and realize this was all we had
Through the darkest nights and coldest moons
We'll be heart to heart, more than just brothers
We'll never give up now

Broken locks and car rides home
Break the light so no one knows
Of the times we had, of the hours we spent
Looking back, that's all I have anymore

This has been the best years of our lives
Lets pray that we can say these words forever
The days are running shorter by the hour
We'll look back and realize this was all we had
Through the darkest nights and coldest moons
We'll be heart to heart, more than just brothers
We'll never give up now
