Loving you is easy but forgetting you is something I can't do.

You say I must forget about the laughter and the pain that we've been through

You say I can't stay so I must be on my way from you

But I still love you.

My love is like wild horses it cannot be contained
And so I'll so I'll be your truest friend till you say:
Come back my way.

Don't fence in my love, I tend to push and shove when
I'm hemmed

Don't ask me to give you away, my heart will never mend

You say I can't stay but I'm just now ready to begin

Cause I oh I love you.

My love is like wild horses it cannot be contained
And so I'll be your truest friend till you say:
Come back my way.

I'm just an untamed heart brought by the wind
I want to be a little more than your best friend
My love is like wild horses, it cannot be contained
And so I'll be your truest friend till you say:
Come back my way.
