For Mary-Jane
Most every night
I played
The same old song
That lingered on for days
For Mary-Ann
Her friends all gone
I stayed
And through the night
I held her tight and prayed
Am I wrong
Cause I didn't have the strength to carry on
Cause I never looked behind me, I was gone
And all that I could do
Was write their song
Am I right
To share a part of them into the light
For telling you and standing here in white
My memories are haunting me tonight
For Mary-Line
For weeks on end
I tried
To fold my world
And keep her pearl inside
For Mary-Lou
I caught the moon
Last night
She never came
But who's to blame
I lied
Am I wrong
Cause I didn't have the strength to carry on
Cause I never looked behind me, I was gone
And all that I could do
Was write their song
Am I right
To share a part of them into the light
For telling you and standing right here
Tonight
