

Roches

"Eggshell"

Visit "Eggshell" on MotoLyrics.com

I live in an eggshell
Sometimes, if i'm careful, i can make a pinpoint through the shell
And see the light.
I'm too big to fit through the hole, though,
And that's my tough luck.

Inside my eggshell i am secure,
as long as i am careful not to move.
But i have no control over what happens from the outside.
I huddle there and worry that something i can not see will bump into me

And when it does!
You wouldn't believe what happens in an eggshell then!
I get scrambled.
My brains run like bean soup into my veins, bursting them.
And my blood spatters up against the wall worst of all.
A little bit of me seeps through cracks and trickles away forever.

People who live in eggshells have only one alternative:
They can get hard boiled.

Visit Roches page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.