I'm coming back, like a dog
You'll be waiting there, like a dog
We're the same, but we don't know our names
We break the fame, and we feel no shame
I was born to be like this
I can say, but you won't give me a sweet kiss

We're acting like those animals
It may be wrong, but that's our style
We always drive ourselves wild
You know we are, we're falling apart
But we'll come back, come like animals

I'm screaming, shouting but no one will hear
You're silent, an advent, of a reason to disappear
We're not the same, I wish
You lay my blame, like a foolish creature
But that's not wrong, we can still come along
Because

We're acting like those animals
It may be wrong, but that's our style
We always drive ourselves wild
You know we are, we're falling apart
But we'll come back, come like animals

We're acting like those animals
It may be wrong, but that's our style
We always drive ourselves wild
You know we are, we're falling apart
But we'll come back, come like animals

Yeah, it felt so wrong but not anymore
You gave up quick, not like before
Because now, we're animals
Yeah, wild animals
