What can I do?
I'm lost here without you
Now every day's the same
Except that now I know your name
You won't stay

Everything is in it's right place
Like the sky in blue
My words are true, so are you
I'm aware this is the last to see your face

Let me look in your eyes
Although I always live a lie
I might make it up by telling the truth
It's just that it's me for you
But you won't say

Everything is in it's right place
Like the sky in blue
My words are true, so are you
I'm aware this is the last to see your face

Everything is in it's right place
Like the sky in blue
My words are true, so are you
I'm aware this is the last to see your face

Everything in it's right place
Everything but you
Say something, tell me something new
It won't take so long, only a minute or two
I want everything in it's right place
Everything in it's right place

Tell me something new
I cannot resist the world without you
I know you know a trick or two
Can you help me find another way
To get you out of my head?

What can I do?
I'm lost here without you

Now every day's the same
Except that now I know your name
You won't stay
You won't stay
