

Rock House!

"I Caught My Breath"

Visit "I Caught My Breath" on MotoLyrics.com

You must hate me
For who I have been
From that frown, starring down at me
Facing backwards
You don't wanna see cowards
But today, I've caught my breathe

It's been a year, like in a minute
Non stoping, will you ever come to the limit?
You were so busy all the day and night
Making every second last
But you don't care about the past (about the past)

Seems like the time for a break
But you look as if it's never enough
You get what you deserve, why throw it away
Stop that, I want you to stay
What's the point of this all

You must hate me
For who I have been
From that frown, starring down at me
Facing backwards
You don't wanna see cowards
But today, I've caught my breathe (Caught My Breathe)

You must hate me
For who I have been
From that frown, starring down at me
Facing backwards
You don't wanna see cowards
But today, I've caught my breathe

Who cares if you hate me
About what I could be
From the time, I couldn't look you in the eyes
Facing backwards
We each don't wanna see cowards
But today, I've caught my breathe

Visit Rock House! page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
