Think you don't agree with what you got
You were willing to see, for what you deserved
But the real was severe, for the real was lethardic
And your mind is in fear, for the world is catastrophic
Cry out your world, and look at what you've done
You've done wrong, with nothing gone
You were in love, and you lost the one

Blow your candles away, away
Listen to what they say, say
So if you don't take the try
If I was you, tonight I'll cry
And start to retrace, the tears on your face

I'll stay in my generation
I'll stay in my generation

Then maybe try to escape, if you can
You were willing to go, you cried and you ran
But the real was severe, the darkness erased the light
And you wanna disappear, the darkness doesn't seem alright
Cry out your world, and look at what you've done
You've done wrong, with nothing gone
You were in love, and you lost the one

Blow your candles away, away
Listen to what they say, say
So if you don't take the try
If I was you, tonight I'll cry
And start to retrace, the tears on your face

I'll stay in my generation
I'll stay in my generation

Blow your candles away, away
Listen to what they start to say, say
So if you can't take what's real
If I was you, I'll know how I feel
And start to retrace, the tears on your face

I'll stay in my generation (Where is it?)

I'll stay in my generation (How can I?)
You don't know, you just feel
You won't say no, and take what's real
You'll stay in your generation
