"Never Mind"

Let it flow, I've done what I can do
And it'll show, something that you'd never care to see
Something, something right next to you

The wind won't stop blowing, every time the stronger
What can stop me from flowing, in this world you didn't bother
What you mean by "I don't care"?
You were the one the made the dare

I thought I would reach it, if I try my best
Now where did my mind go, after I tried my hardest
Let it flow, I've done what I can do
And it'll show, something that you'd never care to see
Something, something right next to you

So that when I am done, I can look behind
I've given up everything, so never mind

Your words won't stop hurting, every time the stronger
The world is still turning, and my mind doesn't bother
What do you mean by "I don't care"?
You were the only one that would have dared

I thought I would reach it, if I try my best
Now where did my mind go, after I tried my hardest
Let it flow, I've done what I can do
And it'll show, something that you'd never care to see
Something, something right next to you

So that when I am done, I can look behind
I've given up everything, so never mind

So that when I am done, I can look behind
I've given up everything, so never mind
Let it flow, I've done what I can do
And it'll show, something that you'd never care to see
Something, something right next to you

But you didn't notice, I hoped you would
I was unconscious, I'll restart if I could
Now that I'm done, I can look behind

But I've given up everything, so never mind
