I woke up
To start everything at another nine to five pace
Something different
This isn't meant to be like seeing the sun and chasing it
It was there to impress you
Give me a reason to let it go
Don't give me evidences that you can't show

I watch the sun over the window
To see them walk by getting chased by shadows
All day long, without my wrong
Nothing there to hurt, to fill it with dirt

Now what is wrong with me, apart from this whole world
You could've stayed there just to see, fall down so hard
It's another scene that you have missed (It's a lie)
But the first scene on my list (It's a lie)
I'm waiting for myself to say
Even when you're gone, I'll stay in my place
And whatever you do, I'll always play my ace

I stood there
Just to keep everything the same forever
Nothing better
It's staying where I am, I know it's worse together
It was meant to impress you
But not anymore

I watch the sun over the window
To see them walk by getting chased by shadows
All day long, without my wrong
Nothing there to hurt, to fill it with dirt

Now what is wrong with me, apart from this whole world
You could've stayed there just to see, fall down so hard
It's another scene that you have missed (It's a lie)
But the first scene on my list (It's a lie)
I'm waiting for myself to say
Even when you're gone, I'll stay in my place
And whatever you do, I'll always play my ace

Cause' it's meant to be like that

When all I needed was to play my ace
Why did I even bother liking you
I knew it'll all end up with me, lost from you
Now what did you expect of me?
You were the one, not me...
I can't move any where I need to stay
I can't ignore, but I won't mind whatever you say
I can't look back, I need to stay here
To play my ace

Now what is wrong with me, apart from this whole world
You could've stayed there just to see, fall down so hard
It's another scene that you have missed (It's a lie)
But the first scene on my list (It's a lie)
I'm waiting for myself to say
Even when you're gone, I'll stay in my place
And whatever you do, I'll always play my ace
