I know you were hiding
From the hitting lightning
It seems to stay there
And it seems you won't care

You seem to be hiding
From a falling lightning
It's raining outside
It's been such a long ride
But you know, you won't change
You were low, and there's no way out
But you will go, on that pace as you left

Next thing I'll go to the trees
Where nothing can see me
Rain, rain, rain as you want
Because now the thunder seems to've come
Pain, pain, pain that's what you want
You want them to know you as a misery
Whatever, you've ruined my fun

But you know, you can't get out
When you hide, from things you need to pass
You've lost, your only chance when I warned, and you agreed
And I've found something that I should leave
Because on the ground, something was deceased

Next thing I'll go to the trees
Where nothing can see me
Rain, rain, rain as you want
Because now the thunder seems to've come
Pain, pain, pain that's what you want
You want them to know you as a misery
Whatever, whatever...
