I won't wait for another chance to come
I won't stop girl, I'll go to you until I'm done
Every time I hear your voice that calls my name
Every time I know I can't be the same
And I know I'm not enough to reach you

You're just perfect in every way
I expect to see you every day
I can't hold on to the things you do
Because I can't reach any closer to you
Just one more step, but I still can't take it
This ice between us, I just can't break it

I can't make myself into someone else
I need to be myself, with the smiles I sell
Although I might be something below
Although I might make my decision slow
I know I'm still not enough for you

You're just perfect in every way
I expect to see you every day
I can't hold on to the things you do
Because I can't reach any closer to you
Just one more step, but I still can't take it
This ice between us, I just can't break it

Am I enough, will I ever be?
Can't I shut up, and go and see
The real world and be myself?
Oh, take the reality!

You're just perfect in every way
I expect to see you every day
I can't hold on to the things you do
Because I can't reach any closer to you
Just one more step, but I still can't take it
This ice between us, I just can't break it
