

Rock House!

"Remember My Name"

Visit "Remember My Name" on MotoLyrics.com

Come to the point where I need to realize
The things I try and the times I cry
Always the time when I try to aim high

When I sit alone on the chair I hide my tears
But I need more than myself to overcome my fears
So I took one last breath to take one step to here

The sky is blue, and the grass is green
The lies seem true, and my life ain't clean
I believe that I always rely on words I don't mean

When I lay my blame
Come call me shame
All my time I've waited the same

Remember, my name is shame
December, the snow won't melt the same
(It's rushing my blood from inside)
But remember, you can make it melt
December, the coldest I've ever felt

When will I state clearly in my mind
There's one last chance to waste, and it's mine
It might be wrong to betray your trust behind

When she's trusting me
Will I be able to see
So all I took was one teardrop from inside

I may be the waiting always debating
Wasting my time for nothing that's mine
I come to the point that I need to resign

When she's trusting me
I wanted to say no retreat
But all I took was one teardrop from inside

Remember, my name is shame
December, the snow won't melt the same
(It's rushing my blood from inside)

But remember, you can make it melt
December, the coldest I've ever felt

The more I hear, the more the tears
The more fears I need to overcome, remember?
One more year, once again it's December

Right above the surfaces of smiles and laughter
Yet in somewhere I'm asking for help
Apart from a time where I share my fate
I'm blending in so you can't find me

Leaving the point where I need to take one breath
"Don't betray, not today" you said
A need for a friend that I can truly laugh with
"Don't give up, hope is there" might as well be one
myth

A need for a friend
That can provide me help
A seed towards the end
The new device to stay alone

When I lay my blame
Come call me shame
All my time I've waited the same
Remember my name?

Remember, my name is shame
December, the snow won't melt the same
(It's rushing my blood from inside)
But remember, you can make it melt
December, the coldest I've ever felt

The more I hear, the more the tears
The more fears I need to overcome, remember?
One more year, once again it's December

Right above the surfaces of smiles and laughter
Yet in somewhere I'm asking for help
Apart from a time where I share my fate
I'm blending in so you can't find me

Leaving the point where I need to take one breath
"Don't betray, not today" you said
A need for a friend that I can truly laugh with
"Don't give up, hope is there" might as well be one
myth

A need for a friend
That can provide me help

A seed towards the end
The new device to stay alone

Take another step, just one more step
Make another step, just for one more help

Losing my senses on where to go
The point where I really need to know
By then December, it'll start to snow

Losing my senses on where to go
By then December, it'll start to snow
But who would have remembered, who would have known?

Right above the surfaces of smiles and laughter
Yet in somewhere I'm asking for help
Apart from a time where I share my fate
I'm blending in so you can't find me

Leaving the point where I need to take one breath
"Don't betray, not today" you said
A need for a friend that I can truly laugh with
"Don't give up, hope is there" might as well be one myth

Fake my smiles, fake my laughter
Remember, my name is shame
December, the snow won't melt the same
(It's rushing my blood from inside)
But remember, you can make it melt
December, the coldest I've ever felt
Fake my smiles, in needs for friends

Take another step, just one more step
Make another step, just for one more help

Losing my senses, but now it's December
Until coming to the point, you'll let me remember
December's the same
Remember my name?

Visit Rock House! page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.