(Can you hear me?
Can you see me?)

Left inside the outside world
It's not a lie, I was always here
They left me here, I don't want your sympathy

(You're the one, that let me down
Saw the sun, then the heat surrounds
If you dare try to look again
You won't end up the way you begun)

Now what are the excuses this time
They left me, like I commit a crime
Including you, what did I do

(Could've left me here
Like nothing ever happened
Bitter thoughts start to appear
Get away, or you'll be like me)

My father told me to hold on tight
But I lost all the sweetness and light
(Let me go! Let me go! Let me go!)

I've seen enough, the sun rise and fall down
They treated me rough, just because I had the crown
What was so wrong with me? I never meant to be Anything like this, not anything perfect

Now what are the excuses this time
They left me, like I commit a crime
Including you, what did I do
I'm sick of those eyes, your dirty lies
And they always go wrong against me
What was so wrong with me? I never meant to be

My father told me to hold on tight
But I lost all the sweetness and light
(Let me go! Let me go! Let me go!)

(Solo)

(Why did it end like this
Went through all the painful miss
And got all the worthy bliss
But I, needed to fall again and loose it again
Everything, everything, everything like you)

Not what are the excuses?
My father told me to hold on tight
But I lost all the sweetness and light
(Let me go! Let me go! Let me go!)

My father told me to hold on tight
But I lost all the sweetness and light
(Let me go! Let me go! Let me go!)

(Can you hear me?
Can you see me?)
