I closed my eyes tonight to block the city light
No one understands yet that I don't fit the scene
No one I've met is the same, and now I'm thirteen

It's so obvious that looking behind just clouds up your mind
I don't always follow rules, but I can't go out too far
I don't know if I can stay the same, still hiding my scars

I'm still in the time to decide
But time passes you and I
I'm falling away and you're leaving today
And now I'm here
I'm here to fear
But wait for me
This is the last thing I still have to say

I'm still waiting
Now I'm thirteen
I still wonder why I'm hating
That now I'm thirteen
Don't want to grow up if I can stay the same
I was eight then, I wonder when You pour your self a cup of tea and you told me your name

Now I'm thirteen
Every second does mean
Another second I stay out of the scene

I'm still in the time to decide
But time passes you and I
I'm falling away and you're leaving today
And now I'm here
I'm here to fear
But wait for me
This is the last thing I still have to say

I'm still in the time to decide
But time passes you and I
I'm falling away and you're leaving today

And now I'm here
I'm here to fear
But wait for me
This is the last thing I still have to say

I'm still in the time to decide
But time passes you and I
I'm falling away and you're leaving today
And now I'm here
I'm here to fear
But wait for me
This is the last thing I still have to say
(Eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, six years...)
