I don't need any good tomorrow
I just want today to be alright
And even if everything goes all wrong
I don't need any piece of your sympathy

Holding all my breathe just for the moment
Half expecting the scenes to happen
When they just can't be in reality
Being so brave for just the moment
And hearing all those same old answers

I don't need any good tomorrow
I just want today to be alright
And even if everything goes all wrong
I don't need any piece of your sympathy

Hiding the lies and fears with just one smile
Feeling left out for all the cold reactions
When they've just happened in reality
Tomorrow seems so far but it's only in few hours
I don't want to make the same mistakes

I don't need any good tomorrow
I just want today to be alright
And even if everything goes all wrong
I don't need any piece of your sympathy
No need for sympathy

And even if everything goes all wrong
I don't need any piece of your sympathy
I don't need any good tomorrow
I just want today to be alright
