My confidence within is lost
As I hide myself in the frost
I won't have any satisfaction
Nor the course of action
I'm lost within the hated day
As they take each other to where they'll stay

Now every wind that blows is ever colder
It's too late when I understand
The chances took were never closer
It was too late when I built this on sand

Valentine's Day has turned and left me
Valentine's Day was a day that I would be
But not anymore
Valentine's Day breaks one dream for me
Valentine's Day takes one more sight to see
I've got no more
And my mind went somewhere, I don't know
Love isn't blind, it's just that I can't show
Myself

I'll be here next year, with a new dream
By that time, I've thrown away things from last year
Valentine's Day will turn and leave me here
Valentine's Day will not be the day that I would be
Valentine's Day gives and takes another dream
Valentine's Day lives and breaks one more sight to see
I've got no more
And my mind went somewhere, I don't know
Love isn't blind, it's just that I can't show
Myself
