I almost lost weight when you were gone
But ever since life was colorless
Then I heard you were coming back
And I was in half joy, half agony
Why did you come back, but you're welcome home
Almost lost myself for cutting my skin

Here today, gone tomorrow
Live today, leave the sorrow

You're not wanted there, but you're welcomed here
You'll never outstay, you belong right here
I don't mind if you leave away, or stay with me
But after all, I'll realize that you're always my violet

I nearly made you loose your mind
But nowadays I learned to breathe
Then I heard you were leaving soon
Why are you going?
I never said anything wrong did I?
If you are leaving
Let me say that I hate you now
(Although I know you still won't stay)

Here today, gone tomorrow
Live today, leave the sorrow

You're not wanted there, but you're welcomed here
You'll never outstay, you belong right here
I don't mind if you leave away, or stay with me
But after all, I'll realize that you're always my violet

You're my violet
You're my violet
You're always my violet
(Always my violet)
