I live in this winding road
It's leading to some where that I don't know
The day ends in a fraction of a second
I still walk, but there's nothing I've found

I continue to walk, in the boarder line
I never talk, and I never heard a goodbye from you
I want to know how this started
I need to go, and find a way out
Because I've gotta' feeling, and I depend on it
And I start to walk, day and night
Until I learn to talk, until I know I'm right

This may be the last summer
Until this story is all over
You were something unlike anyone else
I don't ever wanna stop walking
Until I find a way out, and hear you talking
You're my volte face, if I turn back
So bring me to you, I don't know where this goes
I live in this winding road
I've lost directions, where to go
Where to start, where to stop, I just don't know

There's only two in this road
Only me and my shadow, where to go?
I'm walking, I'm standing in the breeze
I'm not talking, understanding, now I'm on my knees
I want to know, when this started
I need to go, and find a way out
Because I've gotta' feeling, and I depend on it (Depend on it)

This may be the last summer
Until this story is all over
You were something unlike anyone else
I don't ever wanna stop walking
Until I find a way out, and hear you talking
You're my volte face, if I turn back
So bring me to you, I don't know where this goes
You're my volte face, and it'll never change
I'm walking on the borders

I'm one of the outsiders now

I can't show you how this hurts
I don't know where to go, another kiss will hurt
I live in this winding road
I live in this winding road
It's leading to some where that I don't know
And I don't know where this goes

This may be the last summer
Until this story is all over
You were something unlike anyone else
I don't ever wanna stop walking
Until I find a way out, and hear you talking
You're my volte face, if I turn back
So bring me to you, I don't know where this goes
You're my volte face, and it'll never change
