We've always been looking at the past
To notice that smiles don't last
For anything there's always an end
Always an end and always a start
And now it's out turn to end

Don't push eachother for the life
We're all gonna' fade sooner or later
For when everything is done
When the world has lost its' sun
Just come sit next to me
See when the world goes down
Oh, come sit next to me

What could've we done?
We've always wanted all the fame
When we knew someday it was turning to shame
For that everything had it's throne
Always had a throne, always had sweetness
And now it waits at the bitter end

Don't push eachother for the life
We're all gonna' fade sooner or later
For when everything is done
When the world has lost its' sun
Just come sit next to me
See when the world goes down
Oh, come sit next to me

We've said
We've done
What's wrong
What's right
All we needed
All we needed
Now come sit next to me and see

For when everything is done
When the world has lost its' sun
Just come sit next to me
See when the world goes down

For when everything is done
When the world has lost its' sun
Just come sit next to me
See when the world goes down...
