I've never find life so hard
Although it's just a piece of disregard
I've never thought life could be so sick
Although it's more of dreams with some magic
If I find myself in a cliff to fall
Then I'll take one step, and then another one
Just to think again, if it's really a checkmate
And it's usually not, I still have names to call
I'm not going to end, until I'm done
So when I start again, then I'll find nothing to hate
I'll walk my way, even though I may be alone
I'll just find a day, to find something worth to break my bone

Sometimes, I stay awake
Although it's just a time when I'm not sake
I've never find anything so pointless
Although I get deceived in the lies I tell myself
That's just why, I might find myself in a cliff
But I'll just take a step back, and stop there
I may be alone, but not in attack, so I won't care
I may feel alone, but I won't say life is worthless

But I can't, take another step forward
I need to stay, I'm a shameless coward
I've waited for a day, when I can throw away
And I'm saying today is the day
Although I might be deceived to my own lies
Then let me take a chance, cause' I have nothing to rely
It might be the same song and dance
But maybe, today is the day

(Solo)

I've never find life so hard
Although it's just a piece of disregard
I've never find life so worthless
Although it might just be a lie, I tell myself
I'll never find life so hard
Even if it's just a piece of disregard
Then I'll take one step, to the edge
Because maybe, today is the day
