All I needed was a light in the darkest place
I've ever been in all my life
As I try to find my way in the changing seasons of my life
And my eyes don't see the things I'm living for have been course
Are they done? Are they just?
They give in

I'm old enough to know that time doesn't move slow
enough
I'm young enough to know that I can ever be too old enough to trust you
Higher (and higher)
I want to go away with you
Some say your fire (your fire)
Is through
But I don't wanna think that way
So you lost your
And it crushed your soul
And while you're standing at the fork in the road
So you let your finger hold it up
There's no wind there telling you where you should go
So you try, try to trust
While you there them

I'm old enough to know that time doesn't move slow
I'm young enough to know that I can never be too old enough to trust you
Higher (and higher)
I want to go away with you
Some say your fire (your fire)
Is through
But I don't...
Wanna...

I am yours, do what you wish
I am yours, I am yours and I know this Whatever happens next is in your hands, in your plans
Nothing less
In everything there is a choice

Through the joy, through the pain I will rejoice
I am yours, do what you wish
I am yours, I am yours and I know this

Save me, cuz I need it
And I can't help but feel desperate
My desires seem to be coming to their endings
But I will trust it's not the end
But a great beginning
