How, how are you?
How, how are you?

Lying on the hotel floor thinking...
Where I am, who I've been.
Phone carefully balanced
On my cheek, my voice gets weak,
Arms rested by my side...

And after all these years with you,
And after all that we've been through,
You'd think we'd know by now, you'd think we'd know
by now.
And after all the here and there,
And after all the lost nowhere,
You'd think we'd know by now, you'd think we'd know
by now.

My eyes start chasing
New York City lights, I try to fight...
Thoughts of you and all this time
Unaware of this:
Unaware of the obvious...

And after all these years with you,
And after all that we've been through,
You'd think we'd know by now, you'd think we'd know
by now.
And after all the here and there,
And after all the lost nowhere,
You'd think we'd know by now, you'd think we'd know
by now.

One of these days,
It'll all go away:
A lifetime together...
And after all the here and there,
And after all the lost nowhere,
You'd think we'd know by now, you'd think we'd know
by now.

And I know it's true...

It was meant for me and you:
A lifetime together.
One of these days,
It'll all go our way.
Yeah, love will find a way...

And I know it's true... (How, how are you?)
It was meant for me and you:
A lifetime together.
