People judge you from a caption and a photograph,
They don't know you but they pretend.
They'll use you up and spit you out ,
When there's nothing left for them.

Hang on...better days are comin',
Better days are comin'.
Hang on...better days are comin',
Better days are comin'.

The world wanted everything from you,
Now it won't return your calls.
You lie alone watching late night television,
Wondering where it all went wrong.

Hang on...better days are comin',
Better days are comin'.
Hang on...better days are comin',
Better days are comin'.

You never know where youâ€™ll be a year from now,
Gotta make it on this road, gotta make it somehow.
Gotta jump, gotta run before time runs out,
Where you land nobody knows,
But at least for now...you got a place to rest your head.

Better days are comin',
Better days are comin'.
Hang on...better days are comin',
Better days are comin'...hang on.
