(Rod Stewart)

I wouldn't change a thing if I could live it all again

Ah listen

It's funny you know when you sit down and think about what you had About the friends you used to know What happened, where did they all go Can you remember happy hours spent drinkin' and thinkin'
We thought we could change the world And we never, never, never, never, never never thought we could get much older then

We were the ones who loved to love the right to love We'd bring it on home with the right song played at the right time What happened to the girl that you loved once and left young man did you break her heart Did she live, and did she marry, did she ever think on your face again Ah now hold on a minute

I wouldn't change a thing if I could live it all again
Ah yeah

I think what you say is all so right but I find it hard to jog my memories Don't worry Lou you may never get another chance yeah

Yes I think what you say is all so right but I find it hard to move my memories Say it again with a lot more feelin'

And I think what you say is all so right but I find it hard to find my memories Don't sing so serious you make me feel so sad

But if I was true to myself I would probably find it was a tear in my eye that stopped me from believing you Don't worry, don't worry, don't worry don't worry

You know my tongue gets tired when I think back on all of the things we do But I wonder if I'll remember these few precious things as years pass me by Ah when young bodies that've grown older and mind's become dimmer I'll point the finger back in time

I said I wouldn't change a thing if I could if I could, if I could live it all again, yeah
