She comes home late
And I've waited long
Then she sings me lines
From the songs I used to sing
When I was young

Then I feel alright
'Cause she's that kind of girl
A woman child
A free young spirit

In a jaded world
And she knows me
Shows me
Lets me see

She's everything a heart could ever want
(Willow)
When I call her name
(Willow)
Will she still hear me when

She's everything a heart could ever want
(Willow)
When she looks at me
(Willow)
Her eyes just say it all

She always puts me right
When I turn up wrong
Never walks away
Her smile tells me
I'm goin' on and on and on

It gets real damn hard
To let your children grow
And when you make mistakes
It's the time you got to let 'em
Know you know you know

I wanna know her
Show her

I wanna let her see

She's everything a heart could ever want

(Willow)

When I call her name

(Willow)

Will she still hear me when

She's everything a heart could ever want

(Willow)

When she looks at me

(Willow)

Her eyes just say it all

She's everything a heart could ever want

(Willow)

She's sometimes strange

(Willow)

So please, please, please don't change

It ain't an easy thing to let a young bird fly

And when they spread their wings

For the very first time, you just wanna die

Everything a heart could ever want

I know she's everything a heart could ever want

She's everything that a heart could ever want
