I'm on the same street as you
For so long I never knew
You weren't there to wonder where
An empty chair in a room that's bare.

But now I know my hearts right
Now you hear my hearts right
With your love my hearts right on the line

I broke mirrors, turned things upside down
I wanted faces I'd known around
I tried to find a common ground

But now I know my hearts right
Now you hear my hearts right
With your love my hearts right on the line

Don't it seem crazy when your love has been lazy?
Treat yourself cruel in the face of the sun.
Key to open are words never spoken.
Hearts right, hearts right, hearts right.

I'm on the same street as you
For so long I never knew
You weren't there to wonder where
An empty chair in a room that's bare.

But now I know my hearts right
Now you hear my hearts right
With your love my hearts right on the line
