The more I look, more I see, The more that life asks of me
The more it hurts, the more I feel, The more it takes time to heal
For easy times they come and they go
They come and they go so quickly
And peace of mind is so hard to know
It's something to keep me striving
The more I learn the less I know, So little time, so far to go
When your heart's getting burned, As you weep, so you learn
For easy times they come and they go
They come and they go so swiftly
And peace of mind is so hard to know
It's something to keep me striving
The more it hurts, the more you feel
The more it takes the time to heal
The more you look, the more you see
The more these things were meant to be
For easy times they come and they go
Come and they go so softly
And peace of mind is so hard to know
It's something that keeps me smiling
The more I look, the more I see, the more that life gives to me
