You're a Mystery

We've got the whole day to ourselves
The only thing that I want to do
Is stay right here and lose myself in you
Don't want to take no short cut
I want to cover every inch of your skin
There's nowhere on Earth I'd rather be
Than on the end of your fingertips

'Cause it's you
That I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you
I'm unravelling you
I'm travelling through the mystery of
Blue skies and open roads
From your honey lips down to your toes
It's you that I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you

I love the way you hide behind
The smile and the pillowcase
There's something about your back when it curves that way
I want to take a road trip
Explore the secret of your kiss
There's nowhere on Earth I'd rather be
Than on the other side of your lips

'Cause it's you
That I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you
I'm unravelling you
I'm travelling through the mystery of
Moonlight and shooting stars
From your sugar lips to your open arms
It's you that I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you

I'm loving you
Every inch of my

You're loving too
Every touch, every smile
This journey through
A special place you
Take me to

'Cause it's you
That I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you
I'm unravelling you
I'm travelling through the mystery of
Blue skies and open roads
From your honey lips down to your toes
Never ever felt this good before
I'd go anywhere that you want me to go
'Cause it's you
That I'm travelling through
I'm travelling through the mystery of you

It's a mystery
You're a mystery
It's a mystery I'm travelling through
