

Roland Grapow

"Ticket To The World"

Visit "Ticket To The World" on MotoLyrics.com

Here she comes and there she goes
Wearing someone else's clothes
Turning water into wine
Ridicule into sublime Oh Yeah!

Been a daughter all her life
Never ever been a wife
She'll go out in the pouring rain
Just to drive her dog insane Oh Yeah!

Well I love the little girl and I love her like a sister
When the sun goes down she goes off like a twister
She will tear it all down if she doesn't feel trusted
In her under-age world I hope she never gets busted

She will share in everything
She'll confess to all her sins
She's in love with all God's children

She's got a ticket to the world...

She can light your darkest night
Maybe put your world to right
She's a different generation

She's got a ticket to the world...

Visit Roland Grapow page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.