Woke up to a beautiful sun shining brightly in the East
Want to have it shine on everyone the way it's shining on me
We got such a long way to go and we got so much to do
But I made a promise to myself I'd be right here for you

I feel the cool of the wind
Touching me like a long lost friend

When I hear the music play and I hear the children sing
I know together anything is possible
Time won't slip away
We'll get through all that life can bring
And I know together anything is possible

What do you want from life?
What do you want to be?
You looked me straight in the eye and you say,
"Happy"
I have to sit down for a while 'cause it made my heart sink
Realizing for the first time we wanted the same thing

I hear the cry of the wind
Calling me to this place again

When I hear the music play and I hear the children sing
I know together anything is possible
We won't let time slip away
We'll get through all that life can bring
And I know together anything is possible

When I hear the music play and I hear those children sing
I know together anything is possible
We won't let time slip away
We'll get through all that life can bring
I know together anything is possible

Together (anything)
Right now I know, (anything)

I know that (anything) is possible
Come on, I know now, (anything)
Anything is possible (anything)
Together anything (anything) is possible
Yeah
