Wave another day goodbye if you dare
Letters from across the seas, words we share Close to madness, close to fame, close to god They dance before me now, I can see just what they're not Some day they may know me very well, and where I stand
The summer's near, the wind's still cold, but it's getting warmer now

Leave behind your tears you say and I sometimes do But my love to love itself seems to wither without you Love's not for you you're pretty but try
The curtain will fall
