When the sky has turned to grey like a neverending decay frozen tears in your eyes dawn of the gods thandle with care they said this will be our last arise do you see the world's disguise
it looks like a grave of ice Dawn of the gods has begun right now it's too late to regret your mistakes If you don't give a damn to gods advise the flowers will fade to black then you know for whom the bell tolls and the shortest straw will be drawn no mercy no life you'll suffer 'til death You've my master I'm your creature but you must obey to what I say
